The story behind this site:

We were alerted that this domain name was available by someone unknown to us via an email. Mr. Samblis previously held the rights to his namesake domain address, and we couldn't believe he would let it lapse. Given that we own and maintain a series of sites we thought it would be a good idea to purchase the domain address and use it to drive traffic to our other sites. So we did. We initially constructed what we thought was a flattering graphical slideshow featuring Mr. Samblis and other pictures that could be found around the web, and on Google Images.

Not too long after doing such we were contacted by Mr. Samblis and he ordered us to take down the site, stating that the pictures we were displaying were not public domain pictures and that they were his copyrighted pictures. You can follow the chain of emails exchanged linked below (notice the "easy read" link also). Also as the email illustrate, there later became a time in which Mr. Samblis authorized the pictures to be used, then shortly thereafter ordered them removed again. After all the nastiness from Mr. Samblis... the site is now the way you see it. It's a shame Mr. Samblis exhibited such arrogance and let his ego overcome his common sense. This was a nice site before Mr. Samblis initiated the series of events that deteriorated the situation into what you see today.

Also, you will notice within the chain of emails that there was a time in which a deal was struck that would have returned the domain name to Mr. Samblis. But once again Mr. Samblis created a situation in which he caused the deal to be cancelled. He all but had the domain back when he went on a public message board and called us "dirtbag" and "squat". Not the way to consummate a deal that was all but complete.

You may wonder why the email links are broken up like they are. The reason is, Mr. Samblis would delete certain passages from the emails as he responded to them individually. It was necessary to reconstruct the series of events by capturing several chains of emails. However, just notice the dates in which the emails were written and you will be able to follow the conversation (or read the "easy read" compilation)

Also, although its not been widely published, there is another string of emails where, in

The screenshot shows a trading software window titled "Positions". At the top, there is a dropdown menu for "Account" set to "7031" and a button labeled "Edit Avg Price". Below this is a table with the following columns: Symbol, Quantity, Average Price, Last, $ Change, % Change, Market Value, $ P/L, % P/L, and Total $ P/L. The table contains one row for the stock symbol "MTV".

MTV	89	0.00	0.0095	0.0013	15.67	0.85	0.0095	100.00	0.8455

At the bottom left of the window, there are three summary labels: "Portfolio Gain/Loss:", "Portfolio Profit/Loss:", and "Total Market Value:", each followed by a blurred numerical value.

So the cyber squatting scum bag Larry has written a post that I am the CEO. Larry is a loser living in his mothers basement that has no life so he hijacked the CEOs name and tried to sell it to him. When the ceo fought back, scum bag Larry purchased 40 more website all around the company's properties. He then used them to attack the CEO and anyone that supports him. I am a prime example of one being attacked.

I have a feeling that larrys tantrums will come to an end sooner then later.

The funny thing is, Larry is such a coward that he does not use his real name. Can this guy be any more of a loser?

Re: None

Post # 117604 of 117747 Go

Copy from the web. Now... on to the lies... with proof!

1) Let's start with this lie first. In this post here, you state Mr. Collins was fired (in addition to calling him a "crook" and a "liar"), yet you offer no proof in support of your statement. In post #30929 on Investors Hub (which has since been deleted for an unknown reason), however available here, it appears, by your own words, that Mr. Collins in essence quit. After all - it was Mr. Collins that rescinded the purchase, not you. You boast about how stupid he was in doing so. So... were you lying then, or are you lying now?

2) Departure of the previous president of your company. In our post here, we provide multiple documents refuting your statements that you fired the previous president, when in fact we provide that actual resignation letter, and not only does the past president indicate she resigned, but there is corroborating witness testimony that this was what actually happened.

3) Your Employment Contract. You state in the August 12, 2011 Quarterly report filing here, that "The company does not have employment contracts with its majority shareholder, who is the executive officer." Then...the public filing dated 11/14/2012 states the following: "On November 18, 2005 the Company entered into an employment agreement with Steven Sambis to be our Chief Executive Officer." So... we're you lying on every SEC filing prior to 08/12/2011... or were you lying on the 11/14/2012 filing???

4) Lawsuits against the company: The recent SEC filing, the 10K (see here), as well as the previous filing, the 10Q (seen here) there is NO mention (or can be said, "disclosure") that there is in fact a legal proceeding against the company. See it here. In fact, the filings state: "We are not engaged in any litigation, and we are unaware of any claims or complaints that could result in future litigation." (emphasis added). Then... it becomes known that there was in fact litigation that had occurred during these 2 filing periods. See details here. So... we're you lying on the filings, or are the court documents lying???. Were you lying when you agreed to a settlement, then defaulted on that settlement agreement?

5) Reverse split: This one doesn't even need any document references here. As everyone knows, there were a vast number of posts over multiple message boards where you stated you would not do a reverse split of the stock. In several instances you used the word "never" in reference to the possibility of a reverse split. This was likely the topic that you most addressed in your message board posts, and steadfastly disputed anyone that would even hint at you doing another reverse split. Then... as everyone knows, on March 27, 2013 you do a reverse split. (followed by another one

After 3 years I sold the 9,000,000 shares I bought for about $3.00. Of course it wasn't 9m, it was 300. What a scam this guy pulled on lots of us. Almost 3 years of failures and outright lies.

Domain purchase request(9) People me Aug 31, 2013

To: Steven Sambis

Mr. Sambis... I apologize for being blunt... this is not a debate, nor is it a negotiation. No amount of aggression, be it direct or passive, nor your attempt at making me feel guilty will change the facts: You asked if I would consider selling you the domain names, I said yes. I had no intention of selling the names, and only considered such as a courtesy to you upon your request. A price was established, and now this is YOUR decision to buy or not. It really makes no difference to me if you buy them or not. I am not the bad guy here... simply someone who has an item you expressed an interest in. YOU decide what you are willing to pay for that item, and then act, or don't act. Its really that simple. I suggest not buying them if doing so will cause you resentment or discomfort.

I have the blessing and the curse of growing up in an old-fashioned Italian-American family. Don't get me wrong, I am eternally grateful to know I have parents who always looked out for me. When I was 16-years-old and smashed the family car, they yelled. But they also made sure I was ok, paid for the damages I couldn't afford, and handed me the keys to try again. Selfishly, I put them through my adolescent wild stages - the under-age drinking, the sneaking out of the house to go out ...

Steven Samblis Sep 24
To: me

Larry,

On the samblis.com cybersquating site which you currently hold you have posted:

"Why does the CEO hide behind bogus aliases? mighttrade, dotd, zurich, Bzippy, and of late FLWright is he avoiding SEC scrutiny? So he cannot be held accountable for his statements? Mr. Samblis uses these aliases to pump the stock... isn't that stock manipulation by deception?"

This statement is a lie and alleges securities fraud. It is slanderous to me personally. Please remove this at once.

Mr. Samblis:

Re the attached, "alleges securities fraud"... many believe that is EXACTLY what you are doing. Perhaps someday the SEC can investigate the situation and set the record straight. Perhaps even yourself should contact the SEC and request an investigation into the matter. If persons other than yourself have perpetrated a fraud by making readers think it was you posting those messages, that is something I would think you would want to get to the bottom of and get the truth out.

Although I don't believe the section on the site you reference rises to the level of slander, I have amended the wording so that folks such as yourself will not misunderstand that I am simply drawing reference to the situation, and asking questions about the situation. Certainly you noticed the question marks after each question, right? That means it was a question, not a statement, or a statement of fact.

It is reassuring that you keep an eye on my sites. Certainly contact me if you see anything inaccurate or "slanderous" as you put it, for that is not my intent. My intent is to provide readers with what I believe to be factual information, such as posting the documents and links to the lawsuits you were a defendant in, and posting opinion about such. Which by the way you never addressed in our last set of emails. Please feel free to comment on those legal issues if you reply.

If you want to see what real slander looks like, you might want to visit just about any message board that discusses your company, and yourself. You will more than likely see some diligent attempts at slander. However, being the subject of such statements you are likely to feel even factual statements are a form of slander. I assume you would rather only see positive statements put forth, like those from mighttrade, dotd, zurich, Bzippy, and FLWright. If those posters are not you, they certainly think very highly of you and your company, such that they post only extremely favorable comments about you and your company. In light of the PPS currently at 0.001, it's simply amazing that they have such confidence in you and your company. Even after the reverse stock split that wiped out the investment of most investors, they appeared to still have such positive things to say about you and your company. Amazing, truly amazing... and as some would say... simply unbelievable. How would YOU explain such enthusiasm?

While I have your attention... there is much controversy over your company IC Places, Inc. not reporting any revenue in its SEC filings. Could you comment on how viewers can see commercial ads running on your sites, yet there is no revenue reported on your SEC D/K filings? Also, why is there no revenue from the Clearvision deal? Many investors want to know how it is that you put forth effort, and have used lot of investor's money to create revenue, yet there is no revenue reported. Why don't you answer these type of questions from investors? Many think it is extremely disrespectful of you to not be accountable to your investors.

Thank you...

Larry

Lawsuit... just attach it to an email. You have no trouble contacting me... you have done it often, and I have never not responded.

If you have something to discuss, then by all means, contact me. However, contacting me to call me names and threaten me is harassment, and such is an actionable offense. For the record, stop such.
